

Definition of Integrated language learning

Integrated language teaching and learning aims to help learners make connections between a language they are learning and other languages present in their developing repertoire..

According to Candelier & Manno (2023)

In addition, Integrated language teaching aims to help learners make connections with language learning and processing strategies developed in relation to other languages.